

The Professional's Choice in Gold ®

Welcome to the Certified Gold Exchange Online Tutorial

The most important tool in any investor's kit is knowledge and we at Certified Gold Exchange want our customers to be the best informed investors in the precious metals market. Only then can we succeed in our unrelenting pursuit of the total satisfaction of every single customer who entrusts us with their Gold Investment needs.

As you read through these pages let your imagination wander. Investing is about the future – try to envision the role gold can play in realizing your dreams. But sound investing also requires us to take a look at the past, to see things we have done right and to discover things we could have done better. With that insight we can move forward and craft an investment strategy ideally suited to our individual goals, resources, and dreams.

Of course it is not possible to cover every detail of every topic of interest to every reader. We have tried to cover each subject with broad strokes, and we have placed links at the end where you can find additional information. Still, we expect that many of your questions will go unanswered. For that we invite you to call us at any time and ask to speak with one of our Precious Metals Investment Advisors. They are not paid on commission for the simple reason that their function is to advise - not sell.

We have prepared this tutorial for you, and we hope you find it very useful, interesting, and informative. However, we know it will always be a work in progress and we depend on your thoughtful comments to help us keep making it better. Just give us a call at 1-800-300-0715, we would love to hear from you.

Thank you for stopping by. We are certain you will find that your time has been well spent.

Sincerely
Janet Villa

Why Invest In Gold?

Why should you invest in gold? As you will find throughout this tutorial, gold offers a great number of benefits. However, these three reasons to invest in gold top the list:

1. Growing Global Demand.

Despite the worldwide economic slowdown, the huge emerging economies of China and India are consuming ever greater quantities of gold and silver. Consequently, the demand for these precious metals is experiencing explosive growth, which in turn drives up their price. These economies are only in their infancy, promising that this trend will continue into the foreseeable future.

2. Not Linked to Currency.

Our national debt is already several times our Gross Domestic Product (GDP) and has severely weakened the dollar, which is not backed by any tangible asset. While the value of paper assets is tightly linked to that of the dollar, the value of gold is independent and universal.

3. Invest In Gold to Counter Declining Stocks.

Although US interest rates are at historic lows, eventually the government will be forced to raise them to counter inflation. As interest rates go up, so does the cost of money. The higher cost of money means corporations have less money to invest, driving down the value of stocks and bonds. History shows us that the value of gold always reacts to counter the declining value of stocks and bonds.

In Other Words.

This is what the head of the Household Trading Division of Certified Gold Exchange had to say when asked why it is necessary and prudent to invest in gold:

Leading my answers as to "why invest in gold" is that I love America and its citizens, but our political system has caused many problems for the national economy over the years. These problems are due to trillions of American taxpayer dollars that have been put into a failing financial system. Invest in gold because it could safeguard you and preserve your wealth during difficult economic times. Gold has also been historically proven to make profit for investors when mainstream investing is at a standstill. These are my personal reasons as to why one should invest in precious metals and it drives my days and nights knowing that my staff and I have the ability to help the citizens of the United States cement their financial strength with gold. Types of Gold Investments

The two most common types of gold investment are those in modern bullion products and certified rare gold coins. Because of their small size, investors can take physical possession of these assets; secure storage requires no more than a safe deposit box.

Both of these products should be powerful weapons in any gold investment strategy. Whether it is to be for short or long term investment may determine which product is right for you.

Modern Gold Bullion Products – the vehicle of choice for short-term gold investment

Modern gold bullion is available in two convenient forms: bars and coins. Each comes in a variety of common weights – bars from 1 gram to 400 ounces, and coins from 1/10 ounce to 1 ounce. Recently coins weighing as little as 1/20 ounce and as much as one kilogram have been introduced as well.

Gold bullion coins are legal tender struck and guaranteed by government mints, giving them instant liquidity worldwide. Gold bullion bars that are struck and guaranteed by certain prominent private sector companies – in particular Credit Suisse and Johnson Matthey - are equally liquid. Because the purchase premium on bullion products is very low, their value closely follows the spot price of gold.

Low premiums, superior liquidity, and high profitability make modern bullion products the ideal short-term gold investment.

Certified Rare Gold Coins – the vehicle of choice for long-term gold investment

Since the advent of third party coin grading and certifying services in the late 1980s, rare coins have become a viable and profitable vehicle for long-term gold investment. Today, thanks to highly reputable firms such as NGC and PCGS, trade of rare gold coins is commonplace.

Rare gold coins along with a label bearing the certification information are encapsulated in a tamper evident package. This packaging provides both protection for the coin and a secure permanent record of its assessment. Both NGC and PCGS also guarantee their coins for authenticity and grade, and both maintain broad networks of authorized dealers where their respective coins are instantly accepted.

The value of Certified Gold Coins is enhanced and stabilized by their worth to collectors. This rarity premium, which will only increase as more investors enter the market, can easily exceed their higher purchase premium. Also, because of their status as collectibles Certified Gold Coins are not subject to potential government confiscation.

Superior long-term stability, value as collectibles, and immunity from confiscation make Certified Coins the ideal long-term gold investment.

How To Begin Gold Coin Investing And Come Out A Winner

Five Golden Rules - A Winning Strategy for Your Gold Coin Investing

1. Physically Hold Your Gold Investment.

Certified Gold Exchange strongly recommends that you take physical possession of your gold assets with free delivery right to your door. That way you will have total control over your investment and your coins will always be close by to admire and share with others. However, do not keep your gold at home unless you have a strong safe securely bolted to your house's structure. A safe deposit box at your bank is ideal for inexpensive and secure storage.

If you prefer not to hold your gold coin investment, Certified Gold Exchange will gladly arrange storage for you with either Brinks or Delaware Depository Services Company (DDSC). Your gold will be held worry-free in a secure depository for a reasonable annual fee.

2. Know a Company's Reputation Before Putting Your Trust in Them.

In a very real sense whenever you invest you are placing your future in somebody else's hands. In the exchange of certified gold, there is good cause to be especially wary. Exercise due diligence before you invest with any dealer. At a minimum, investigate their record with the Better Business Bureau, paying particular attention to the number of complaints filed in the past several years. There should be very few, and none should have gone on unresolved. Would you want to be that one customer whose investment is jeopardized by some unsettled issue?

From the day we opened the doors Certified Gold Exchange has maintained a Zero Complaint, A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau, a flawless record that no other exchange can match. And it didn't happen by accident. We earn our reputation for accountability, integrity and reliability every day and with every customer.

3. Demand a Gold Coin Investing Account Agreement and Understand it Before You Sign.

No matter how great your faith is in your business partner, everything is subject to change. Ask your dealer for a copy of their account agreement before you commit, and question your dealer about every detail you don't fully understand. Anything but full cooperation from your dealer is your signal to back away.

4. Select Only Widely Traded Gold Products.

One of the most attractive features of gold assets is its liquidity, but not all gold is created equal in that respect. Limit your gold investment products to those with proven steady demand and worldwide recognition. We recommend:

- Mainstream Gold Bullion Coins
- COMEX acceptable Gold Bullion Bars, preferably Credit Suisse or Johnson Matthey
- MS grade gold coins certified by NGC or PCGS

5. Insist on Immediate Shipment When Your Payment Clears.

If a dealer doesn't ship in a timely manner, chances are you paid for product that was not in their possession. Certified Gold Exchange strictly adheres to the law and guarantees shipment of your order within these limits:

- Bank Wire - 3 Business Days
- Cashier's Check - 7 Business Days
- Personal Check - 10 Business Days
- Company Check - 10 Business Days

And one more: There is never a better time than now

Follow these 5 golden rules for a gold coin investing experience that is safe, profitable, and fun!

Wise Gold Investing

Wise gold investing is simply getting the maximum benefit from your available funds by selecting gold products that are best suited to your specific goals and needs.

Wise Gold Investing Begins With Selecting Your Investment Partner

Your partner should have a sterling reputation and a well-established presence in the gold market. Your partner should be exceptionally knowledgeable, experienced, and determined that you be well informed. And above all, your partner's mission must be to do everything necessary to ensure complete satisfaction with your gold investment experience.

That's a pretty tall order and one that very few companies can fill. But with due diligence such a partner can be found and it will prove to be very well worth the effort. You should expect a lot from your investment partner, and you deserve to get it. Certified Gold Exchange is confident that even the most thorough investigation will prove us to be your investment partner of choice.

Your Investment Partner Must First Be a Trusted Advisor

The first thing your advisor should want to know is what you want to accomplish with your gold investment, and this can be discovered only through friendly, probing dialogue. Your advisor must be patient and eager to answer your questions. Your advisor should freely suggest other resources whenever you feel the need of further knowledge. Your advisor should thoroughly explore a variety of investing options with you. And your advisor should never rush you into any decision or pressure you for a sale.

At Certified Gold Exchange your gold investing advisors are non-commissioned Certified Gold Specialist whose only incentive is to deliver the best service in the business.

Your Investment Partner Must Be a Straight Shooter

Your partner should freely and clearly explain the risks involved with your investment. Your partner should discuss with you how current and historical market trends affect your risk but should never suggest that information "proves" you will profit from your investment. Quite simply, there are no guarantees regardless of where you invest.

Your partner should never encourage you to convert more than a prudent amount of your assets into gold, or try to convince you to invest more than you are comfortable with. Get rich quick schemes abound and they inevitably prove to be the short route to poverty. Wise gold investing is all about diversifying your investments for better overall performance of your portfolio.

When you finally settle on the products for your investment, make sure the quote you receive is for the final price you will pay to have your purchase in hand. There should be no hidden fees and no odd charges intended to disguise markup. No honest dealer is ashamed of making a reasonable profit.

Finally, if you are offered a deal that sounds too good to be true, it most certainly is. Find another dealer.

Expect More. Demand More. Get More

Wise gold investing has a lot more to do with service than it does with price, so Certified Gold Exchange puts that issue to rest with PriceMatchPlus® - our exclusive guarantee that we will beat any legitimate certified coin quote by 1%. We are a large volume dealer and pass that advantage along to every single customer.

Gold Bullion Investing Dos & Don'ts

The Gold Bullion Investing Don'ts - Deadly Pitfalls to Avoid

- Don't Choose Your Gold Bullion Investing Partner Based on Celebrity Endorsements or Splashy TV Ads.

Celebrity endorsements and splashy TV ads don't come cheaply, so how does a company pay for them? Actually, they don't – their customers do, to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars in 2009 alone. Why put your hard earned money at risk by selecting your gold bullion investment partner based on a pitchman's spiel or the endorsement of celebrities whose only expertise is the script they have been paid to read?

- Don't Do Your Gold Bullion Investing With High-Pressure Sales Representatives.

If you get any pressure at all from a representative it is time to get another partner; clearly your best interests have taken a back seat. When representatives use high pressure tactics it is almost always because they are paid on commission. They are salesmen first and their motivation is not to serve but only to get as many quick sales as possible.

- Don't Invest More Than 30% of Your Total Assets in Gold Bullion.

Gold bullion is often called the mirror of the stock market because trends in its value oppose those of stocks and bonds. Only the right mix of both gold and paper assets can give your portfolio the stability you are seeking with diversification. Based on decades of data, experts agree that holding 20% to 30% of total assets in gold provides the ideal balance.

The Gold Bullion Investment Do's - Rules to Follow

- Do Work Closely With a Trusted Gold Specialist to Determine the Gold Bullion Investment That is Perfectly Suited to Your Individual Goals and Needs.

Your partner should help you understand the risks as well as the rewards and never suggest an investment that is not prudent for your financial situation.

- Do Choose Your Gold Investing Partner Based on Due Diligence and Common Sense.

Check out what really matters – their accountability, integrity, and reliability.

- Do Insist on Non-Commissioned Professional Specialists Who Clearly Demonstrate the Desire to Help You.

Remember you are looking for a partner – not a vendor.

It all boils down to trust.

Avoiding these three pitfalls will not only save you money – it will make your gold bullion investing experience far more enjoyable and give you peace of mind as well.

At Certified Gold Exchange we know that trust does not come quickly or easily. We take the time and do whatever is necessary to earn the trust of every single member of our growing family of investors.

Bullion Investments (Bars and Coins)

Throughout history gold has been the benchmark for evaluating the worth of currencies, and today gold bullion investments are universally recommended to hedge against declining value in stocks, bonds, and currency.

The Investor's Choice.

Certified Gold Exchange, Inc. (CGE) has served licensed precious metal dealers and institutional gold traders since 1992. In 2001 we opened our doors to household investors enabling them for the first time to invest in gold bullion with the same security, confidence, and volume discounts previously afforded only to market insiders. Today CGE is North America's premier platform for the exchange of precious metals.

You may trade any certified gold product on Certified Gold Exchange, but to benefit from our volume business you should select from the Gold Bullion Coin and Gold Bullion Bar Investments listed below.

Gold Bullion Coins Are Ideal For Short-Term Investments

Gold coins are the ideal choice for short-term gold bullion investment. These coins are legal tender and guaranteed for weight and purity by the country that issues them. The exquisite designs of gold bullion coins and the history behind them further enhance their value. Most gold bullion coins are 24 karat, 99.99% pure gold. They come in a great variety of weights that typically range from 1/10 ounce to 1 ounce, but by far the most commonly traded coins weigh one ounce. Instant worldwide liquidity and the ability to take physical possession give investors complete control over their gold bullion coin investments.

American Gold Eagle Coin

Fineness = 0.916

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000	Troy oz 32.7 mm	2.87 mm
0.5000	Troy oz 27.0 mm	2.15 mm
0.2000	Troy oz 22.0 mm	1.78 mm
0.0010	Troy oz 16.5 mm	1.26 mm

The American Gold Eagle carries forth the tradition of the renowned double-eagle minted from 1907 to 1933. The obverse displays a stunning rendition of the iconic Augustus Saint-Gaudens' full length figure of Lady Liberty with her flowing hair, torch held high in her right hand illuminating the way, and an olive branch in her left hand, outstretched in an offering of peace. On the reverse, in a dramatic design by sculptor Miley Busiek, an eagle descends clutching an olive branch, an offering to his mate and her hatchlings in the nest below.

Unlike most other modern bullion coins, the American Gold Eagle is 22 karat, .9167 pure gold alloyed with silver and copper for superior durability. Gold Eagles are a true American product, restricted by law to contain only metals mined in the United States. American Gold Eagles are the best selling 22-karat gold coin in the world and they account for over 80% of American gold bullion coin investments.

Australian Dragon Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000	Troy oz 32.1 mm	2.80 mm
0.2500	Troy oz 20.1 mm	2.00 mm
0.1000	Troy oz 16.1 mm	1.50 mm
0.0500	Troy oz 14.1 mm	1.40 mm

The 2000 Australian Dragon is fifth in the Lunar series of these modern collectible coins. These coins are beautifully struck in 24 karat gold and have an appearance rivaling that of proofs. Each coin in the series features one of the twelve animals of the ancient Chinese Lunar Calendar and with the exception of the 2-ounce, 10-ounce, and 1-kilo coins, each has limited mintage. The one-ounce coins have the lowest cap with production limited to 30,000 each year.

Being the millennium coin, the Australian Dragon is of particular interest in the Lunar series. Having already reached its production cap, the one-ounce 2000 Gold Australian Dragon will no longer be produced. Although the coin is still legal tender, it is now considered collectible, increasing its value as a gold bullion coin investment.

Australian Kangaroo Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000 Kilo	75 .3 mm	13.90 mm
10.0000 Troy oz	60.3 mm	7.90 mm
2.0000 Troy oz	40.6 mm	4.00 mm
1.0000 Troy oz	32.1 mm	2.80 mm
0.5000 Troy oz	25.1 mm	2.40 mm
0.2500 Troy oz	20.1 mm	2.00 mm
0.1000 Troy oz	16.1 mm	1.50 mm
0.05000 Troy oz	14.1 mm	1.40 mm

The Australian Kangaroo is a beautifully rendered 24 karat gold coin featuring a unique frosted design that gives it a two tone effect. Each year a different portrait of a kangaroo distinguishes the coin from other mintages. The unusual beauty of the Australian Kangaroo has made it a popular choice for gold bullion coin investment since first introduced in 1986. The Australian Kangaroo also premiered "jumbo" gold coins, topped by the largest gold bullion coin in regular production – weighing a full one kilogram.

Australian Lunar Snake Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
Kilo	75.3 mm	13.90 mm
10.0000 Troy oz	60.3 mm	7.90 mm
2.0000 Troy oz	40.6 mm	4.00 mm
1.0000 Troy oz	32.1 mm	2.80 mm
0.2500 Troy oz	20.10 mm	2.00 mm
0.1000 Troy oz	16.10 mm	1.50 mm
0.0500 Troy oz	14.10 mm	1.40 mm

The 2001 Australian Snake is sixth in the Lunar series of modern collectible coins. Like the other coins in this series, the Australian Snake is beautifully struck in 24 karat gold and has an appearance rivaling that of proofs. The Australian Snake has not yet met the production cap so they are still available at near bullion prices, making them an excellent choice for gold bullion coin investment.

Austrian Corona Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.900

Size	Diameter	Thickness
0.9802 Troy oz	37.1 mm	2.29 mm

Austrian 100 Corona gold coins (commonly called Coronas) were among the first products available for gold bullion coin investments when private possession of gold once again became legal in America. Austrian Coronas are .9000 fine (21.6 karat) and weigh .9802 ounce. The obverse bears the likeness of Franz Joseph I, Austrian Emperor from 1848 to 1916. The Austrian Coat of Arms, a double eagle with crown, is portrayed on the reverse, and Emperor Joseph's motto, Viribus unitis (with united forces) is inscribed on the edges.

All Coronas are restrikes dated 1915 and are no longer minted or promoted. Due to their relative obscurity, Coronas trade at one of the lowest premiums in the market. Bargain hunting investors need look no further than the Austrian Corona for their gold bullion coin investment.

Austrian Philharmonic Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000 Troy oz	37.0 mm	2.00 mm
0.5000 Troy oz	28.0 mm	1.60 mm
0.2500 Troy oz	22.0 mm	1.20 mm
0.1000 Troy oz	16.0 mm	1.20 mm

The beautiful Austrian Philharmonic is the first gold bullion coin to be struck in the Euro denomination. In honor of the Wiener Philharmoniker (Vienna Philharmonic), the obverse bears the Great Organ of the Großer Musikvereinsaal (Golden Hall), widely recognized as the most beautiful and acoustically perfect concert hall in the world. A collection of instruments on the reverse represents the orchestra.

The Austrian Philharmonic has long been a favorite in Europe, and being the first gold bullion Euro coin its popularity for gold bullion coin investment has spread around the globe.

Canadian Maple Leaf Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000 Troy oz	30.0 mm	2.87 mm
0.5000 Troy oz	25.0 mm	2.23 mm
0.2500 Troy oz	20.0 mm	1.78 mm
0.1000 Troy oz	16.0 mm	1.13 mm

0.0500 Troy oz 14.1 mm 0.92 mm

Introduced in 1979, the Canadian Gold Maple Leaf was the world's first .999 pure gold bullion coin. In 1982 the Royal Canadian Mint reset the benchmark for gold bullion coins to today's .9999 fine. Perhaps only to prove it could be done, in 2007 the mint introduced a limited edition "5 nines" (.99999) fine gold bullion coin.

Due to their exceptional purity, Canadian Gold Maple Leafs are extremely popular for gold bullion coin investments and they have become the best selling 24-karat gold coin in the world.

Chinese Panda Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.999

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000 Troy oz	32.1 mm	2.70 mm
0.5000 Troy oz	27.0 mm	1.85 mm
0.2500 Troy oz	22.0 mm	1.53 mm
0.1000 Troy oz	18.0 mm	1.05 mm
0.0500 Troy oz	13.9 mm	0.83 mm

First struck in 1982, the Chinese Panda introduced the concept of modern bullion collectibles. Each year a limited number of Chinese Pandas are struck featuring a unique panda design on the reverse (with the exception of the 2001 Panda, which had the same design as the 2000 coin). The obverse portrays the Hall of Prayer for Good Harvests of the Temple of Heaven in Beijing with The Peoples' Republic of China inscribed in Chinese on the top and the mint year inscribed on the bottom. In certain years minor variations in the design can be found that identify the originating mint.

The universal love of panda bears, the novelty of Chinese bullion, and limited mintages combine to make the Chinese Panda an excellent choice for gold bullion coin investments. The 2010 Chinese Panda, portraying two panda cubs at play, might just be the most popular yet.

French Rooster Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.900

Size	Diameter	Thickness
0.1867 Troy oz	21.0 mm	1.40 mm

The French Gold Rooster (Coq d'Or) is a very interesting and unique gold bullion coin. Although French Gold Roosters are considered rare – mintage ran from 1901 to 1914 – they are still plentiful and therefore quite affordable. (Actually, Roosters have been found with dates as early as 1899, but Gold Roosters minted prior to 1901 are true rarities.) Like the Corona, The French Gold Rooster is struck from 90.00% fine gold.

Lady Liberty graces the obverse of the French Gold Rooster. On the reverse is a strutting rooster beneath the words "Liberté, Egalité, Fraternité" (Liberty, Equality, Brotherhood), the country's motto since the French Revolution.

All lovers of history will want to add the French Gold Rooster to their gold bullion coin investment portfolio.

South African Krugerrand Gold Coin

Fineness = 0.916

Size	Diameter	Thickness
1.0000 Troy oz	32.6 mm	2.75 mm

Introduced in 1967, the Krugerrand was the first legal tender gold coin struck for the purpose of gold trade. As the world's largest producing nation, South Africa has circulated nearly 1500 tons of Krugerrands. In the 1970s and 1980s the country engaged in an aggressive marketing campaign targeting Americans, who had only recently regained the right to privately hold gold bullion coin investments.

South African Krugerrands are struck from 22 karat (.9167 fine) gold. A portrait of Paul Kruger, the last president of the Republic of South Africa, appears on the obverse, and a Springbok antelope adorns the reverse. The springbok (literally "jumping antelope" in Afrikaans) was the national symbol of South Africa under white minority rule.

Gold Bullion Bars For Short-Term Investment

Fineness = 0.9999

Size	Diameter
1.0000 Troy Oz	29.00 mm x 50.00 mm 1.40 mm

Gold bars are the perfect product for short-term gold bullion investment. While gold bullion bars have the lowest premiums of gold bullion products, they are not classified as collectibles and they would therefore be susceptible to confiscation if the Government were to revert to the policies of 1933.

Gold bullion bars are also sized for easy physical possession, and those bearing the mark of prominent producers such as Credit Suisse and Johnson Matthey enjoy the same instant worldwide liquidity as do gold bullion coins.

Johnson Matthey

Produced by one of the founding members of the London Gold Fixing, the Johnson Matthey name is well recognized and highly respected throughout the world. Johnson Matthey 24-karat gold bullion bars are considered by many to be the highest quality bullion available today. These bars come in a variety of weights ranging from one ounce to 16.5 pounds. For short-term strategies, Johnson Matthey is a name you can trust for your gold bullion bar investments.

Credit Suisse

Also known as Credit Swiss, these 24-karat gold bars are backed by the prestigious Credit Suisse Bank of Switzerland and bear that highly respected hallmark. The mark alone guarantees recognition and acceptance everywhere in the world; their exceptional beauty and quality will only enhance their value for gold bullion bar investment.

Our Bullion Prices

You can purchase any one-ounce bullion bar or coin listed above for only $0.99 to $1.99 over wholesale price, delivery included. In order to offer these exceptional prices we require a minimum purchase of ten ounces. There is never a fee to sell the gold you purchased from Certified Gold Exchange or any of our authorized dealers.

And so much more.

The products listed here but scratch the surface of what is available for your gold bullion investments through Certified Gold Exchange. Although these represent the most popularly traded gold bullion bars and coins today, it is important to stay abreast of this ever changing market. For up-to-date information on all of our gold bullion products, call 1-800-300-0715 and ask to speak with one of our certified gold specialists.

Certified Rare Gold Coins

An Investment to Treasure

The allure of gold has endured throughout history. In the earliest days of commerce nations and states pressed gold into coins whose value was universally recognized and accepted. Over the centuries the art of minting gold coins was continually refined as nations vied for the honor of having the most stunning currency. Many of the finest examples from the late 19th century and early 20th century were seized by collectors before they were circulated and are available to investors today.

The Rarity Premium: Advantage or Disadvantage?

Two things determine the value of Certified Rare Gold Coins – their gold content and the rarity premium, an added value determined by the scarcity and desirability of the coin. There is a finite number of any rare coin in existence and no possibility of more being produced, so the scarcity of the coin depends solely on how many are available to the public. Any highly desirable coin will become scarcer as the number of collectors and investors increases – decreased supply and increased demand rapidly drive the rarity premium upward.

Many “experts” see that as cause to warn investors to steer clear of rare coins, but consider their argument. In essence they contend that the high premium over the spot price of the gold content means you get less for your money, inferring that the premium goes into the pocket of the dealer who sold the coin (as if the dealer who purchased the coin didn’t have to pay the premium as well). We invest in those things that we believe have a high probability of increasing in value over time. Both the gold content and rarity premium of Certified Rare Gold Coins fit the criterion very well, doubling the prospects for good returns.

Value Added: The Intangible Treasure of Certified Rare Gold Coins.

The rare coin market has a fixed supply (no new rare coins are being minted), which means there is stronger demand that can only be satisfied through price increases. Everything else aside, nothing compares to the historic richness and enduring artistry of Certified Rare Gold Coins. What other investment can be deemed a prized possession?

But Sometimes Words Alone Just Won't Do

So take a short break from the tutorial and browse through a sample from our extensive gallery. There you will see some of the finest Rare Gold Coins available, every one of which would be an investment you could treasure.

Additional Advantages of an Investment in Certified Rare Gold Coins.

- Security. Authenticity and grade are guaranteed by unbiased independent grading services and the coins are sealed in tamper evident capsules for protection.
- Liquidity. Certified Rare Gold Coins are in constant demand and have immediate liquidity worldwide.
- Control. Physical possession and freedom from any third party liability give the investor total control over their investment.

So, Are Certified Rare Gold Coins Better Than Stocks?

Although statistics have often been used to "prove" that Certified Rare Gold Coins are a better investment than stocks, the truth is that a robust portfolio needs to have each in prudent proportions. Stocks are capable of explosive growth and equally precipitous declines - gold investments act to counter both. The right investment in Certified Rare Gold Coins will add the protection you need in bad times and augment returns in the good.

The Endless Gab about Government Grab

There is ample verbiage elsewhere on both sides of the debate over the possibility of future government confiscation of bullion. These are three basic facts:

1. Our government has in the past confiscated bullion while exempting collectible gold coins.
2. Our legal system is based on precedent.
3. Ten years after the lifting of the prohibition of publicly held gold, the government tried to pass legislation clarifying the definition of collectible coins.

Whether that adds up to risk in holding bullion is for you to decide, but clearly any advantage would go to Certified Rare Gold Coins.

Is Big Brother Watching Your Gold Transactions?

Here again the scale is tilted in favor of Certified Rare Gold Coins. Dealers are not required to report any Rare Coin transaction to the Government. Most Gold Bullion Coin liquidations over a certain amount do require filing a 1099, although there are a few exceptions.

You Don't Have to Be an Expert to Invest in Certified Rare Gold Coins.

A Sampling of Our Gallery

First, this is what a typical Certified Rare Gold coin looks like:

The Masterpieces of Augustus Saint-Gaudens

President Theodore Roosevelt commissioned Augustus Saint-Gaudens to beautify all American coinage, but unfortunately the artist died after completing only two – the Double Eagle and the Indian Eagle. It is tragically ironic that vast numbers of Saint-Gaudens' masterpieces would ultimately be seized and melted into bullion by the cousin of the man who had commissioned their creation.

Saint-Gaudens High Relief 1907 Double Eagle

Designer:	Augustus Saint-Gaudens
Face Value:	$20.00
Minted:	1907
Precious Metal Content:	.96750 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	34mm

This Double Eagle - known officially as the Saint-Gaudens High Relief Roman Numerals 1907 - is considered by many to be the most beautiful American coin ever minted. Augustus Saint-Gaudens designed this coin to reflect the art of his famed medallions, which were relief portraits of exquisite detail. However, it took up to 11 strikes to produce the original coins, which, along with the near impossibility of stacking them, caused mintage to be halted after only 12,367 coins had been struck.

If you look closely you will notice two other unusual features of this coin: the date is in Roman rather than Arabic numerals and the motto "In God We Trust" is missing. President Roosevelt had asked that the motto be omitted to prevent profane use of God's name, and many eagle and Double Eagle coins were minted without those words before legislation was passed in 1908 requiring all currency to bear the motto.

The United States Mint fulfilled Augustus Saint-Gaudens' vision with the release of the Ultra High Relief Double Eagle Gold Coin in 2009. That coin has now joined the ranks of modern collectibles and is no longer available from the Mint.

In an attempt to correct the problems of stacking and having to make multiple strikes while preserving the high relief of the original Saint-Gaudens Double Eagle, the mint experimented with a thicker coin of smaller diameter. However, changing the dimensions of any coin requires the consent of Congress and the idea was scrapped. Saint-Gaudens was asked to redesign the coin for lower relief, resulting in the Double Eagle most familiar today.

The obverse is graced with the iconic Lady Liberty striding out from the coin as a new day breaks, a torch held high in her right hand lighting the way and an olive branch in her outstretched left hand offering peace. Around the circumference are 46 stars, representing the states in the Union. Two more stars were added in 1912 when Arizona and New Mexico were admitted. The reverse is adorned with an Eagle in full flight over the sun.

Designer:	Augustus Saint-Gaudens
Face Value:	$10.00
Minted:	1907-1933
Precious Metal Content:	48375 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	27mm

The magnificent $10 Gold Indian is the second coin designed by Augustus Saint-Gaudens. The obverse features Lady Liberty adorned in an ornate feathered war bonnet emblazoned with the word "Liberty". Thirteen stars representing the original states encircle her head. This bold design was met with considerable controversy when the coin was first released, but over time the public came to understand and appreciate its extraordinary symbolism.

Like the Double Eagle, the Indian Eagle was first minted without the motto "In God We Trust", but it was added following the passage of legislation requiring it in 1908. Also in 1908, forty-six stars appeared on the edges to represent the states of the Union at the time and two more were added when Arizona and New Mexico were admitted in 1912.

The Liberty Eagles

The obverse of Liberty Eagles borrows the Coronet design first used on the 1816 Large Cent. That version was intended to make Lady Liberty appear more mature and came to be commonly known as the Matron Head.

$20 Liberty Double Eagle

Designer:	James B. Longacre
Face Value:	$20.00
Minted:	1849-1907
Precious Metal Content:	.96750 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	34mm

Born out of the California gold rush, the Liberty Double Eagle was the first $20 coin minted in America and had the highest gold content of any U. S. coin of the era. In all three types of the Double Eagle were minted:

- Type I, or "No Motto" with "Twenty D" denomination, minted 1849-1866
- Type II, with "Twenty D" denomination, minted 1866-1876
- Type III, with "Twenty Dollar" denomination, minted 1877-1907

The most prominent feature of the Liberty Double Eagle is on the reverse – one of the most striking portraits of an eagle ever to grace an American coin. Although the design is similar to that on other Eagles, the symmetry and full frontal portrayal on the Double Eagle presents a far more imposing image.

Because Congress had specified the nomenclature for coins in 1792 – Quarter Eagle for $2.50 coins, Half Eagle for $5 coins, and Eagle for $10 coins – it took another act of Congress to assign the Double Eagle name to this new coin.

Designer:	Christian Gobrecht
Face Value:	$10.00
Minted:	1838-1907
Precious Metal Content:	.48375 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	27mm

Due to its convenient size and denomination the Liberty Eagle was immensely popular with the public, becoming one of the most circulated coins in U.S. history. Great numbers of Eagles were hoarded during the Civil War as faith in paper currency plummeted. That fear that was substantiated after the war when Eagles fetched two and a half times their face value in paper currency.

$5 Liberty Half Eagle Rare Coin Investments

Designer:	Christian Gobrecht
Face Value:	$5.00
Minted:	1839-1908
Precious Metal Content:	.24187 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	22mm

The Liberty Half Eagle is the only coin to have been struck at all seven mints. From 1839 to 1865 the coin was minted without the words "In God We Trust". This "No Motto" version is extremely scarce due to efforts by the Government to curtail hoarding during the Civil War. The motto was added in 1866 and remained on the coin through its final mintage in 1908.

Carrying on the Saint-Gaudens Legacy: The $5 Indian Half Eagle and the $2.50 Indian Quarter Eagle

The untimely death of Augustus Saint-Gaudens led to one of his students, Bela Lyon Pratt, being commissioned to redesign the Quarter and Half Gold Eagles. An exquisite profile of an Indian chief wearing a full feathered headdress adorns the obverse while on the reverse an Eagle stands proudly clutching an olive branch in one talon and arrows in the other.

Unlike any other U. S. coin minted before or since, Pratt's designs were incused (recessed) rather than raised, making the coins' intricate details possible. This caused a great deal of consternation among the public, however, who feared the recessed features would harbor bacteria. Their fear was so great that even uncirculated coins were put aside for the future far less frequently than were other gold coins.

Pratt also decided to forgo using protective rims on his designs and as a result pristine Indian Half and Quarter Eagles are extremely rare.

Designer:	Bela Lyon Pratt
Face Value:	$2.50
Minted:	1908-1929
Precious Metal Content:	.12094 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	17mm

Production of the Indian Quarter Eagle was halted from 1916 until 1925; five years later production of that denomination ceased. The short run of mintages and its role as the last Quarter Eagle to be minted have made the Indian Quarter Eagle particularly popular with collectors and investors alike.

The American Gold Dollars

American Gold Dollars were minted between 1849 and 1889 in three distinct types. Each features Lady Liberty on the obverse and a wreath encircling the denomination and date on the reverse.

Liberty Gold Dollar Type I

Designer:	James B. Longacre
Face Value:	$1.00
Minted:	1849-1854
Precious Metal Content:	.04837 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	13mm

Although commonly referred to as an Indian Gold Dollar, the Liberty Gold Dollar portrays Lady Liberty adorned with a crown rather than a headdress. With a diameter of only 13 millimeters it is the smallest of the U.S. gold dollar coins. Also unique to the Type I, there are no inscriptions on the obverse – unlike the others, “United States of America” encircles the wreath on the reverse.

Because the small size of the Type I Liberty Dollars made them difficult to handle, a new coin was ordered for the 1854 mintage. Higher mint state grades of the Type I Liberty Gold Dollar are very rare. In an extremely scarce variation on just a few coins minted in 1849, Lady Liberty’s head is very small.

Indian Gold Dollar Type II

Designer:	James B. Longacre
Face	Value: $1.00
Minted:	1854-1856
Precious Metal Content:	.04837 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	15mm

The larger Type II Indian Gold Dollar has a diameter of 15 mm. It is the first in the series to feature Lady Liberty adorned with an Indian headdress and the inscription “United States of America” placed on the obverse. A problem with the design caused the date to strike poorly and mintage was halted after only three years, making the Type II Indian Gold Dollar the scarcest coin in the series.

Liberty Dollar Type III

Designer:	James B. Longacre
Face Value:	$1.00
Minted:	1856-1889
Precious Metal Content:	.04837 oz. Pure Gold
Diameter:	15mm

To correct a problem of weak strikes on the first two coins in the series, the Type III Indian Gold Dollar incorporated the Lady Liberty design used for the $3 gold piece. This classic version of the gold dollar coin stayed in mintage for the next 33 years.

The Type II Indian Head Gold Dollar features Liberty in her feathered Indian headdress on the obverse, the reverse depicts a wreath enclosing the denomination and date. The diameter of the original Type 1 was increased by 2mm to 15mm to create the Type II so that the coins could be handled more easily. However the coin did not strike up well because of a design flaw. After being minted for only three years, the Type II was replaced by a new design. Because of its scarcity, there is a high demand for the Type II Gold Dollar, which is considered the key coin in the popular 12-Coin U.S. Gold Set.

Rare Gold Coins vs. Bullion Gold Coins:

The Long and Short of Gold Coin Investing.

We Are All the Same in That We Are All Different.

The answer to whether Certified Rare Gold Coins or Modern Bullion Gold Coins make a better investment is unique to every individual. It depends on many factors, such as investment goals, propensity for risk, and the value placed on intangibles.

If Your Destination Lies Just Around the Bend . . .

Short term investing is all about generating cash. Investors buy gold expecting that in the near future the price will rise to a point that satisfies their goals, at which time they sell. They base their expectations on trends in the spot price, but there is risk because nobody can be absolutely certain what lies around the bend. The amount of risk depends on how long the gold is held.

Very short term investing - speculating on daily or weekly spikes in the volatile spot price of gold - bears the greatest risk and consequently has the potential for the greatest rewards. These trades, however, are almost always in derivatives, which can be riskier than physical gold.

Risk also increases when gold is held too long due to temporary reversals that are inherent in the cyclical nature of the spot price. Most individual investors look for returns over a period from one month to a little more than a year. For them, Modern Bullion Gold Coins are ideal. These coins can be purchased at very near the spot price of their gold content and their exceptional liquidity lets investors sell their assets the moment their goal has been reached.

If Your Destination Lies Further Down the Road . . .

Long term investing is all about generating wealth. The ideal portfolio grows in value consistently and substantially over many years, averaging out normal economic cycles and holding steady through periods of economic instability. The key to successful long term investing is diversity – a mix of the right assets in the right proportions. Of those assets, one stands alone as a proven hedge against declining stocks and soaring inflation – gold.

A great number of experts consider Certified Rare Gold Coins to be an ideal asset for long term investment. These coins are exceptionally liquid and secure, and equally important, their value is derived from two distinct attributes. The first, of course, is their content of pure gold. The second is what is known as the rarity premium, which depends on the scarcity and desirability of the coin. Scarcity is fixed – there will never be any more than there is today – and desirability is rising in step with the rapidly growing interest among investors. When you add in the intangibles of historical richness and timeless beauty, it is hard to beat Certified Rare Gold Coins for long term investment.

Over the Horizon . . .

There are limitless investment strategies, but their purpose is the same: building for a future that is over the horizon, far out of sight. What that future will look like can only be imagined. But one thing is certain: everything changes. Successful investing is not an event, it is a part of daily life in which we observe the world and adjust our strategy to changing times.

That is why it is so important to have an investment partner – and not just a dealer – for your gold investments. With Certified Gold Exchange as your partner you will always have the latest research and up-to-date reports at your disposal. Our expert advisors will get you the answers you need when you need them and will work side by side with you to help you reach your investment goals.

Gold IRA Investments

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 made it possible for Americans to fortify their retirement accounts with gold and other precious metals in a "Gold IRA." This protection has proven to be invaluable as conventional IRAs invested in stocks and bonds have experienced unprecedented losses over the past decade.

What Exactly is a Gold IRA?

Gold IRAs are structured like mainstream IRAs, subject to the same rules for contributions and withdrawals. Gold IRAs can be traditional or Roth and have the same tax benefits as the respective conventional IRAs.

Gold IRAs differ in that they allow investment in gold, silver, and platinum bullion in addition to stocks, bonds, and other paper assets. Gold IRAs, are also self-directed. Instead of a trustee controlling and holding the investments the investor decides where the funds are invested while a custodian holds those assets.

Will My Investment Be Secure in The Hands of a Custodian?

Definitely! Custodial accounts are tightly regulated by the US Government. Certified Gold Exchange has partnered with two of the most highly respected custodial firms in the country - Sterling Trust Company and GoldStar Trust Company.

Sterling Trust Company

PO Box 2526

Waco, TX 76702

www.sterlingtrustcompany.com

Sterling Trust Company is a widely recognized leader of the self-directed retirement plan industry. Sterling has specialized in the custody of self-directed IRAs, qualified business retirement plans and non-qualified custodial accounts since 1974 and now serves over 110,000 individuals and businesses in all 50 states. Sterling Trust currently holds $8 billion in assets under custodial and retirement administration.

GoldStar Trust Company

1401 4th Avenue
Canyon, Texas 79015
www.goldstartrust.com

GoldStar Trust Company is one of the nation's most complete retirement services providers. Because GoldStar is a trust only branch of a Texas Bank, the Texas Department of Banking closely monitor its financial condition. GoldStar Trust's financial safety and quality service have made them a leader among all trust companies.

Can I Roll Over My Existing IRA?

That depends. If you are still working where your plan was originated you probably will not be allowed to roll over your account. Ask your plan administrator, and although it is unlikely, ask if your plan allows investment in gold.

If your 401(K), 403(B), or other qualified plan is no longer in service you may roll over all or part of your account into a Gold IRA.

What Can I do if I Cannot Roll Over My Existing IRA?

You can open a separate IRA for your gold investments. The only restriction on having multiple IRAs is that your combined contribution to all of them cannot exceed the limits of a single account.

How Do I Get Started on My Gold IRA?

First call 1-800-300-0715 and ask for our Retirement Department. One of our friendly retirement specialists will answer all of your questions guide you through the entire process.

Once you have selected a custodian you will set up your Gold IRA account and submit the appropriate forms if you intend to roll over an existing IRA. After that you may add gold assets to your account whenever you wish, up to the contribution limits specified by the Government. Your retirement specialist will always be at your disposal to assist you with making the best Gold IRA investments for your unique situation.

Confiscation of Gold Bullion

Is it possible that the Government will once again confiscate gold as it did in 1933? Absolutely not. Remotely. Possibly. Probably. Definitely. Those are the answers you will find, each from a well-meaning and possibly well-informed source. Ultimately you must assess the risk for yourself, in light of the historical facts.

The First Gold Confiscation.

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt faced unprecedented challenges in the 1930s as the country wallowed in the Great Depression. In 1933 he issued Executive Order 6102 to confiscate publicly held gold bullion to shore up the dollar, which was then under the gold standard. For those interested in the details of this order, the full text has been attached at the end of this article.

Exception to the Order - and a Possible Portent.

One of the major exceptions to Executive Order 6102 is given in Section 2B: "gold coins having recognized value to collectors of rare and unusual coins." This was at best ambiguous, and the only attempt to quantify the definition came a decade after the order was lifted in 1974. The proposed legislation classified rare gold and silver coins as "collector coins from which the gross proceeds from a sale exceed more than a minimum 15% of the underlying precious metal content." One has to wonder why such clarification was deemed necessary so long after the need for it had expired.

The Legality of Confiscation is Not an Issue.

We must also consider the nature of executive orders. For example, following the passage of the National Industrial Recovery Act (NIRA) in 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt created the National Recovery Administration (NRA) by a separate executive order. The NRA had far reaching effects on the country, even though it was ultimately invalidated by the Supreme Court in 1935. Executive orders, regardless of their constitutionality, can be in effect for years.

Why We Believe The Threat of Confiscation is Real

It is the opinion of our research team that confiscation remains a very real issue in the current gold cycle. In response to the recent financial crisis the government has had to infuse trillions of dollars into the economy. Dollars are fiat money, intrinsically worthless currency that is used only as a medium of exchange. Because the dollar is backed only by the good will of the United States government, there will always be a threat that holders of U. S. debt will demand repayment in tangible assets. Gold bullion might well be the only asset class that the Government can readily take from its citizens to appease its creditors.

Historically no great country's currency has ever survived more than 100 years without losing 95% of its value. However, the value of gold has endured the rise and fall of countless civilizations. In these extraordinary times, it is only prudent to consider the possibility that the government might enact Draconian measures in times of crisis, regardless of whether they may eventually be reversed. We can only surmise which gold products might be exempt from future confiscation. However, our legal system is built on precedent, and the precedent here is Executive Order 6102.

The precedent: Executive Order 6102

From: President of the United States Franklin Delano Roosevelt
To: The United States Congress
Dated: 5 April, 1933
Presidential Executive Order 6102

By virtue Of the authority vested in me by Section 5 (b) of the Act of October 6, 1917, as amended by Section 2 of the Act of March 9, 1933, entitled "An Act to provide relief in the existing national emergency in banking, and for other purposes," in which amendatory Act Congress declared that a serious emergency exists, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do declare that said national emergency still continues to exist and pursuant to said section do hereby prohibit the hoarding of gold coin, gold bullion, and gold certificates within the continental United States by individuals, partnerships, associations and corporations and hereby prescribe the following regulations for carrying out the purposes of this order:

Section 1. For the purposes of this regulation, the term "hoarding" means the withdrawal and withholding of gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates from the recognized and customary channels of trade. The term "person" means any individual, partnership, association or corporation.

Section 2. All persons are hereby required to deliver on or before May 1, 1933, to a Federal Reserve Bank or a branch or agency thereof or to any member bank of the Federal Reserve System all gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates now owned by them or coming into their ownership on or before April 28, 1933, except the following:

- (a) Such amount of gold as may be required for legitimate and customary use in industry, profession or art within a reasonable time, including gold prior to refining and stocks of gold in reasonable amounts for the usual trade requirements of owners mining and refining such gold.
- (b) Gold coin and gold certificates in an amount not exceeding in the aggregate $100 belonging to any one person; and gold coins having a recognized special value to collectors. of rare and unusual coins.
- (c) Gold coin and bullion earmarked or held in trust for a recognized foreign Government or foreign central bank or the Bank for International Settlements.
- (d) Gold coin and bullion licensed for other proper transactions (not involving hoarding) including gold coin and bullion imported for re-export or held pending action on applications for export licenses.

Section 3. Until otherwise ordered any person becoming the owner of any gold coin, gold bullion, or gold certificates after April 28, 1933, shall, within three days after receipt thereof, deliver the same in the manner prescribed in Section 2; unless such gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates are held for any of the purposes specified in paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of Section 2; or unless such gold coin or gold bullion is held for purposes specified in paragraph (d) of Section 2 and the person holding it is, with respect to such gold coin or bullion, a licensee or applicant for license pending action thereon.

Section 4. Upon receipt of gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates delivered to it in accordance with Sections 2 or 3, the Federal Reserve Bank or member bank will pay therefor an equivalent amount of any other form of coin or currency coined or issued under the laws of the United States.

Section 5. Member banks shall deliver all gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates owned or received by them (other than as exempted under the provisions of Section 2) to the Federal Reserve Banks of their respective districts and receive credit or payment therefor.

Section 6. The Secretary of the Treasury, out of the sum made available to the President by Section 501 of the Act of March 9, 1933, will in all proper cases pay the reasonable costs of transportation of gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates delivered to a member bank or Federal Reserve Bank in accordance with Section 2, 3, or 5 hereof, including the cost of insurance, protection, and such other incidental costs as may be necessary, upon production of satisfactory evidence of such costs. Voucher forms for this purpose may be procured from Federal Reserve Banks.

Section 7. In cases where the delivery of gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates by the owners thereof within the time set forth above will involve extraordinary hardship or difficulty, the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, extend the time within which such delivery must be made. Applications for such extensions must be made in writing under oath, addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury and filed with a Federal Reserve Bank. Each application must state the date to which the extension is desired, the amount and location of the gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates in respect of which such application is made and the facts showing extension to be necessary to avoid extraordinary hardship or difficulty.

Section 8. The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and empowered to issue such further regulations as he may deem necessary to carry out the purposes of this order and to issue licenses thereunder, through such officers or agencies as he may designate, including licenses permitting the Federal Reserve Banks and member banks of the Federal Reserve System, in return for an equivalent amount of other coin, currency or credit, to deliver, earmark or hold in trust gold coin and bullion to or for persons showing the need for the same for any of the purposes specified in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) of Section 2 of these regulations.

Section 9. Whoever willfully violates any provision of this Executive Order or of these regulations or of any rule, regulation or license issued thereunder may be fined not more than $10,000, or, if a natural person, may be imprisoned for not more than ten years, or both; and any officer, director, or agent of any corporation who knowingly participates in any such violation may be punished by a like fine, imprisonment, or both.

This order and these regulations may be modified or revoked at any time.

Conclusion

Today's investor has more choices than at any other time in history. Unfortunately, far too many have learned the hard way that diversifying their portfolios only with more paper assets provides no security against adverse financial conditions.

The peril of paper assets.

A vicious cycle begins whenever there is a sharp decline in available cash. Less cash curtails spending and companies compensate for reduced revenues by eliminating jobs - cutting spending even further. The Government tries to stimulate the economy by printing more currency, but without the backing of hard assets the increased supply decreases the currency's value. The weaker currency drags all cash-based assets - such as stocks, bonds, annuities, and money market instruments - down with it.

Interestingly, no real value is lost - only prices decline. Stocks, for example, still represent the same proportionate ownership of the same company's physical capital. However, the market value of stocks is set by the prevailing sense of the company's overall health, an arbitrary evaluation that is tightly linked to the value of currency.

How gold can help you weather the storm.

The value of physical gold, on the other hand, is not tied to any government or corporation and therefore does not bear the risk of devaluation associated with paper assets. Instead, gold's value is determined by global supply and demand. Existing "above ground" stocks of gold were about 158,000 tons in 2006 while mining added only 2,239 tons. That along with international agreements, have created a very stable supply. If demand were to remain constant, then the value of gold would remain constant while the price of gold would rise to exactly counter the decline in the value of currency.

However, global demand is steadily increasing with the emergence of powerful new economies. And, because of gold's stabilizing effect, investors are converting more and more soft assets into gold. Due to recent sharp increases, gold investment now accounts for over 20% of total demand. When growth in demand exceeds growth in supply, the actual value of gold increases accordingly.

So why not put all of my money into gold?

Remember the goal is to achieve balance in your investments. Just as gold hedges against adverse movement in the value of paper investments, the opposite can also be true. Too much of a good thing could put a damper on the long term growth of your total portfolio. And in the short term, especially in times of economic panic, gold is susceptible to wild speculation.

Take control over your financial future.

The problems facing the world today are not going to disappear overnight. In this uncertain era of globalization and increasing natural calamities it is imperative that we all be proactive to protect our wealth and secure a future for our families. For those who have experienced severe losses in their investments it is even more critical to take action now. It is never too late.

No investment is a sure thing, and no single investment strategy is right for everyone. However, experts agree it is wise to include gold investments in every portfolio as a hedge against inflation and declining value in mainstream investments.

Trade in your worries for some peace of mind.

Take the first step towards your financial security today by calling 1-800-300-0715 and speaking with one of our friendly expert gold investment advisors. Certified Gold Exchange understands that the ideal investment strategy for you depends upon your unique goals, dreams, and resources. Our singular mission is to assist you in planning a gold investment strategy that is right for you, your family – and your future.
